

Making Better Choices

For A New Millennium

As the turn of the century rapidly approaches, Wegmans has been making strides to provide more and more products that offer our customers healthy alternatives while respecting the environment in which we all live.

Our comprehensive approach encompasses: Environmentally Responsible Practices, Waste Reduction and Recycling, Products and Processes We Feel Good About, and Energy Management. Within these areas, we continually look for new ways to help promote healthier lifestyles and conserve and preserve valuable resources in the hopes of making our world a little better for this generation and the next.